West Virginia's entire congressional delegation issued a letter to the White House on Tuesday, March 25, urging President Obama to reconsider the denial of extra federal aid after the January chemical spill in the Elk River. The Federal Emergency Management Agency on Feb. 12 denied Gov. Earl Ray Tomblin's request for reimbursement for first responders, nonprofits and public agencies that assisted during the spill. Tomblin appealed the decision on March 11. The letter cites at least a $61 million impact in nine counties affected by the spill. (Mark Ferrell 304-542-0231)
